FROM THE LOG OF THE WALESHP CHARLESTON
BY DANIEL A. BALDWIN ON THE VOYAGE FROM JUNE 28, 1844 TO MARCH 9, 1847

Dec. 6th. Sunday begins with a strong gale from NW with fine rain. We put the ship under double reefed topsails. At 7 bells the wind is West. We shake out a reef. It continues west with an occasional glance of sunshine till noon. Then without warning a tremendous gale begins from West. We call all hands and take in sail, heave the ship to under a goose wing of the maintopsail. The wind comes in gusts so violent that it takes the water into the air and the sound as it sweeps by us is like the voice of constant thunder. The dark clouds as they hover over us seem like the wing of the destroying angel. The ocean around us is lashed into fury, foams and boils with very rage. We are now off the Falkland Islands.

Dec. 7th. Monday begins with a hurricane. The sea smashed the lee quarter boat. We saved the most of the pieces, however. At 5 in the morning we make sail and keep her off N-E. The wind is S-W and more moderate. She scuds under double reefed topsails and foresail. We continue to have squalls of hail, rain and snow. The wind keeps veering to the North and West. The Capt. this morning told Mr. Lyon to have a boat steerer at the wheel. He sent a Portuguese. He steered 2 hours, then he sent black Oliver. He was contrary and vicious. He let the ship come to, intending it, and shipped a sea. Mr. Lyon damned him and sent him away. Then he told F. A. Sampson that lives in the cabin to take the wheel. He steered till noon. Mr. Lyon then told Portugee Manuel to relieve Sampson that he might get his dinner. He refused. He refused as Oliver did not steer; there being enmity between them. When Mr. Lyon went on deck after, he asked Manuel why he had not relieved Sampson. He began talking to him in an improper manner, accusing him of being partial. Capt. Chester came directly up from the cabin. The Portugee began a complaint to him. Capt. Chester, without any enquiry, began abusing Mr. Lyon, telling him he would have no such work for he showed partiality. Mr. Lyon accused the Capt. of being partial to Mr. Comstock. Capt. Chester told him he would smash his face and used other hard words. They moved away from the companionway. I being in the cabin could hear loud voices but could not understand what was said. The weather is quite pleasant. In the afternoon we set the light sails.

Dec. 8th. Tuesday is pleasant with the wind steady from W.N.W. We begin to approach a more genial clime. The face of heaven smiles once more upon us.

Dec. 9th. Wednesday the sun shines upon us. The sky is clear and serene as summer in my own native vallies. We dry and repair sails.

There is a pleasant breeze from NW wafting us along and the noise of the rippling waters when disturbed by our gallant bark in her progress seems like the music of gladness. Why does the demon of discord hover oer a scene like this? Home, the haven of the wanderer, where I can anchor in still waters "mid smiles and greetings dear" when shall I approach you, halloed place. By D.R.

Dec. 10th, Thursday. Last night and this morning were as beautiful as a dream, a soft breeze sighing from NW at daylight. We saw a brig astern. She came up at 7 bells and I boarded her. She proved to be the LADY ADAMS of Baltimore from Quay Quill, 57 days bound to St. Thomases, thence to Baltimore. I got some newspapers nearly a year old which was a treat. They let us have some twine and needles to repair our sails. The wind at noon veers round South and blows fresh with a frown gathering on the face of the heavens.

Dec. 11th. Friday begins with the wind fresh from SSE. The latter part it veers to the Northward and Westward, light and variable. We finish repairing our maintop-sail, send up the yard, and bend it. Our Baltimore friend is out of sight ahead.

Dec. 12th. Saturday begins with the wind light and variable from the North and West. The latter part of the day it blows fresh from NW by N. Cloudy and cold. We catch a porpoise. At 4 P.M. we saw a ship abeam to windward standing to the Northward.

Dec. 13th. Sunday the wind is strong from NW by N, sometimes cloudy, sometimes clear and pleasant. We send up cross jack yards and set the mizzen topsail, rip up our last spanker, unbend our foretopgallant sail,

JUVENILE GRANGE NEWS

Due to the storm and no school the meeting of the Mattapoisett Juvenile Grange was cancelled Friday, December 12th. Bird and Conservation chairman, Wayne Cray, will hold his Bird and Conservation program at a later date.

Members are reminded to save their cancelled stamps for the contest. This is a good time of the year to ask your friends for their Christmas card envelopes.

Part of Friday's meeting was to have been promoting Fire Prevention at Christmas. We hope you will take heed to this poem.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,
When down through the chimney all covered with soot,
Came the "Spirit of Fire" an ugly galoot.

His eyes glowed like embers, his features were stern,
As he looked all around for something to burn.
What he saw made him grumble, his anger grew higher,
For there wasn't a thing that would start a good fire.

No door had been blocked by the big Christmas
tree,
It stood in the corner leaving passageways
free.
The lights that glowed brightly for Betty and Tim,
Had been hung with precaution so none touched a limb.

All wiring was new, not a break could be seen,
And wet sand at its base kept the tree nice
and green
The tree had been trimmed by a mother insistent,
That the ornaments used be fire resistant.

And mother had known the things to avoid,
Like cotton and paper and plain celluloid.
Rock wool, metal icicles and trinkets of glass,
Gave life to the tree; it really had class.

And would you believe it right next to the
tree,
Was a suitable box for holding debris.
A place to throw wrappings of paper and string,
From all of the gifts that Santa might bring.

The ugly galoot was so mad he could bust,
As he climbed up the chimney in utter disgust.
For the folks in this home had paid close attention,
To all the rules of good "Fire Prevention".

CHURCH TO PRESENT "AM AHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS" IN FAIRHAVEN

Giano-Carlo Menotti's one-act opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors", will again be presented in the Unitarian Memorial Church, Fairhaven, this Sunday, December 21st. There will be two performances -- one at 6:30 P.M. and one at 8 P.M. The 6:30 performance is especially for children, their parents and friends. In order to assure a seat, tickets will be issued for which there is no charge. They can be obtained by phoning the church office.

Those taking the leading roles are: Harley W. Smith, III as Amahl, a crippled boy; Mrs. Paula L. Spiegel as the Mother; Henry B. McGowan as Kaspar, the joyous, slightly deaf king; Raymond McK. Mitchell as Melchior; Felix G. Fournier as the Nubian King, Balthazar and Lee D. Doran as the Page.

Village dancers will be Geraldine Mello, soloist, assisted by Gale B. Foster, Marilyn J. Gardner, Susan F. Pelton and Judith H. Sylvia.

Herbert H. Bowker will conduct the opera, with Mrs. R. Elliott Carruth at the piano and Richard Ormerod at the organ. "Amahl" has been arranged and directed by Mrs. W. Earle Harrop, who will be assisted in the directing by Dr. Alvin Borges.

repair it and set it again. Our friend of yesterday is ahead today steering off to the Eastward. Tis a large ship. Today we passed several killers. They had a whale a bleeding. His hours were numbered. There was no escape from his enemies. We carried away our flying jib boom today. The day ends with fine pleasant weather. The stars are like gems in the clear blue vaults of heaven.

Dec. 14th. Monday is pleasant with moderate gales from NWW and veering. The carpenter is busy splicing the flying jib boom. We cut the spanker into a storm mizzen and fix the jib boom, set up the rigging & C. There is a sail in sight standing to the North and East.
